

Different trends across countries. Reduction of the average energy consumption per dwelling in almost 2/3 of countries, in particular in most new member countries; large increase in southern Europe; values in a range of 1 to 2 toe/dwelling (except southern countries)

At normal climate