

- Without space heating, electricity consumption per employee is more comparable between countries; the correction is important in countries with significant uses of electricity for space heating (13% for Sweden and almost 50% for Norway).

Electricity consumption per employee by branch in services

