

- The distribution of energy consumption according to service sub-sectors is quite homogeneous; though the trade sector is the most important with 25% of the total

Energy consumption by sub-sector in services

